We have also enjoyed finding information online. To support your child's learning at home this week you could...

To support the learning at home this week you could create your own number line and practise counting forwards and backwards. There are many videos on Youtube which practice counting up to 10 (Alice the Camel).

You could look at the different packets of food you have in your house and see if you can tell which continent they have come from. How much of your food is grown or made in the UK?

You may wish to practise hold and writing a sentence containing the tricky words: some, come. e.g. Come to the park with me.

You might also like to practise your spellings using water and a paintbrush on the ground.
